CHOJO, an exciting and new addition to the Westbourne Grove neighbourhood, has just opened its doors. This cosy Chinese restaurant and tea house specialises in Oriental tapas and small plates which are perfect for sharing, as well as a wide array of Chinese tea and cocktails. Chinese dining etiquette has sharing at its heart, from the food to the atmosphere, and the menu is inspired by founders Josie and Cho's childhood memories of enjoying delectable dishes immersed in a warm, friendly atmosphere.

CHOJO boasts authentic East Asian dishes such as traditional shitake mushroom and Goji berry chicken soup noodles, steamed sea bass with chilli spring onion and black bean sauce and edamame in Himalayan pink sea salt. Dishes are served in CHOJO-designed bamboo Chinese boxes, and the tea house offers fine Chinese tea sourced directly from independent tea farmers in China and Taiwan. where the founders originally hail from. CHOJO's founders bring not only their local knowledge of Taiwanese and Hong Kong food culture, but their shared decades of experience working in London's hospitality industry to CHOJO .

The sophisticated space which seats up to 30 guests is full of elegant Chinese design elements. A pair of traditional Chinese doors opens onto an engaging space where cherry blossom and lanterns festoon the ceiling, a traditional Chinese mural decorates one wall whilst the other is illuminated by a lightshow of charming Chinese shadow puppets . The restaurant also offers a private dining room with space for up to 30 guests available for exclusive hire.

CHOJO brings elegant, authentic Chinese tapas and cocktails to an audience looking for cosy elegance.
